8 What impressed you most and/or least about this course?

I really learned a lot from the homework assignments- no busy work in numerical odes.

9 What impressed you most and/or least about the instructor?

Dr. Reynolds is a phenomenal professor. He is very enthusiastic about the subject matter and he inspires his students to be as well. He genuinely cares if his students fully grasp the material, and he made himself very available to his students.

Professor Reynolds is an exceptional teacher. His lectures are very clear and he make difficult concepts easy to understand. Not only was the course material relevant, interesting and engaging, but the ways in which he engages his students and brings the material to life are unparalleled. Professor Reynolds is committed and dedicated to his students in a way that very few professors even approach. I am truly honored to have known a professor who cares so much about his students' learning and otherwise. Thanks for a wonderful semester!

8 What impressed you most and/or least about this course?

Very good course. Good mix of computational and theoretical problem. Relevant homework and projects that I can see how will be used in other areas of study. Excellent.

9 What impressed you most and/or least about the instructor?

Very very well taught course. Professor was (as always) very knowledgeable on all subject matter. Very approachable at all times, even outside of office hours. Always willing to go the each mile to teach comprehension rather than just learning and regurgitating. One of the best classes I've taken in from the math department.

10 General comments

Thanks to Dr. Reynolds for sticking to his high standards and providing a challenging and stimulating course structure and learning environment.

8 What impressed you most and/or least about this course?

I liked that the book followed along well, and was also very helpful. I enjoy that we take courses that enable us to learn computer techniques to solve problems.

9 What impressed you most and/or least about the instructor?

Dr. Reynolds was very well-organized in his lectures, and he also made the class seem short because he made the lectures funny and engaging. I am looking forward to having him for a teacher in later classes.
